Jasper Lankhorst
10885803

1. The == operator means that the value is equal, where the === operator means that the value and type of a variable are equal.

2. The closure ends a global variable.

3. Higher order functions can take as parameter and return functions.

4. A query selector looks in an element for the first occasion of the given class. Ex.: var i = element.querySelector("insert_class")